Vice Principal,

V. V. P. College of Engineering,

Soregaon, Solapur.

Sub: - Request to be Chief Guest on occasion of 'Welcome Function 2015-16' on 19th July, 2015.

Respected Sir,

Shri Vithal Education and Research Institute's College of Engineering, Pandharpur was established in the year 1998 by a group of qualified and experienced Technocrats. Since its inception, the College has been maintaining very high standard of results in the University and is well known for its unique culture and disciplined overall development of the students.

Our institute is going to celebrate the 'Welcome Function 2015-16', for newly admitted First Year Engineering Students @ 02.00 p.m. on 19th July, 2015. It gives me an immense pleasure to invite you as the Chief Guest for the function. We are sure that your guiding words will give dynamic energy in the endeavor of developmental process of our institute.

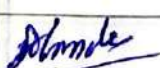

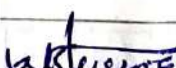

Sir, we are very much eager to welcome you in the premises of our institute.

Thank you,

Yours faithfully,

(Dr. S. M. Mukane)

7.1.10 Annual awareness programmes on Code of Conduct

To monitor the adherence of code of conduct, General Meeting of all the authorities, teaching & non teaching staff members is conducted before the every semester start. In the meeting, various committees are formed at institute level based on code of conduct of the institute (Grievance Committee, anti-ragging committee, Standing Committee, etc). These committees are related to academic & administrative activities, research activities & the overall development of the institute. To ensure the proper functioning of these committees, review of work carried out in each committee is given & report is submitted by the committee coordinator to the respective authority. Appropriate actions are taken in cases where code of conduct is not followed.

Every newly joined staff member is supposed to study in detail the code of conduct of the institute. Proper understanding of code of conduct is ensured by the authorities.

This arrangement will remain in force till further orders.

It is mandatory for the committee Coordinators/Heads/Conveners to:-

1. Convene at least three meetings in a year, out of which, at least one must be held in each semester.
2. Maintain the minutes of the meeting in proceeding book (Register) failing which, one day salary of the coordinator will be deducted. Attendance to these meetings is mandatory failing which, one day salary of the committee member who remains absent and does not justify his/ her absence will be deducted.
3. Submit the report at the end of year to the Principal, about activities performed during the year.

1) Authorised principal to change the member or co-ordinator of any committee any time.

Proposed by: Dr. S. M. Mukane

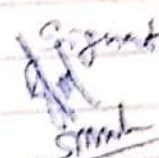

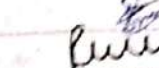

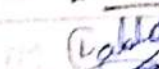

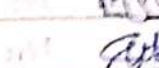

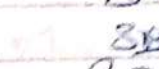

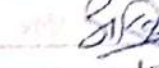

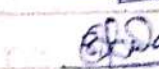

Seconded by: Prof. A. D. Ingale.

There being no further issue to discuss, meeting concluded with vote of thanks to all present.

Dr. Sridevi explained point wise and sub-point wise SAR and asked some questions to the faculty. Dr. P. M. Panwar explained that single mark is very important. Each and every teaching, non-teaching, support staff should involve in NBA preparation from the bottom of the heart. He guided HODs and faculties that also well preparation of your presentation and subject. You should be ready to face the committee members with full confidence physically and mentally. You should speak respectfully. Answer the question in short what they asked.

Dr. P. M. Panwar asked some questions to the faculty regarding NBA. Some of the faculty could not answer or give proper answer.

Thorough discussion was made and it was unanimously resolved as follows;

- i) Collect purchase orders and receipts of purchased material in the last three years.
- ii) Guest lectures and important lectures should be recorded and put on YouTube/College Web-Site and made available for the students.
- iii) Make proper arrangement for all the events especially 15 August and 26 January. There should be no disturbance from the students as well as from the staff.
- iv) Welcome the committee members in your class or lab with smiling face.

v) Faculty should wear blazer on 2nd and 4th Thursday and every event also on MBA Comm's. Hec visit.

vi) Formality and spirit should go hand in hand.

vii) After every chapter one paragraph write-up beyond syllabus.

viii) Soft copy as well as Hard copy about break up of marks.

ix) University rankers year wise list be prepared and placed in HOD cabin.

x) University rankers' answer paper make available from University and display on Notice Board.

xi) There is no need to create big things but to take care of small things.

xii) There should be separate Industry Interaction club. File and industry attached tab.

xiii) To arrange courses beyond syllabus.

xiv) Save data in PPT files and videos.

xv) Don't be negative but always be positive.

Item No 22- About Bloom's taxonomy.
 Resolution No. 2:- Dr. P.M. Perera gave presentation about Bloom's taxonomy.

Bloom's taxonomy

Bloom's taxonomy (Cognitive) according to the Bloom's verbs and matching assessment types. The verbs are intended to be feasible and measurable.

Bloom's taxonomy is a set of three hierarchical models used to classify educational learning objectives into levels of complexity and mastery. The three lists cover the learning objectives in cognitive, affective and sensory domains. The cognitive domain list has been the primary focus of most traditional education and is frequently used to structure curriculum learning objectives, assessments and activities. As with most theoretical models, they are controversial even while commonly used.^[1]

They were named after Benjamin Bloom, who chaired the committee of educators that devised the taxonomy. He also edited the first volume of the standard text, Taxonomy of Educational Objectives: The Classification of Educational Goals.^[2]

[3]

1 History

Although named after Bloom, the publication of Taxonomy of Educational Objectives followed a series of conferences from 1949 to 1953, which were designed to improve communication between educators on the design of curricula and examinations.^[4]

The first volume of the taxonomy, Handbook I: Cognitive (Bloom et al. 1956) was published in 1956. "Handbook II: Affective" (Krathwohl, Bloom & Masia 1965) Simpson (1966), Harrow (1972) and Dave

(1975)^{[5][6]} A revised version of the taxonomy for the cognitive domain was created in 2000.^{[7][8]}

2 The cognitive domain (knowledge-based)

2.1 Remembering

Exhibit memory of learned materials by recalling facts, terms, basic concepts, and answers.

- Knowledge of specifics - terminology, specific facts
- Knowledge of ways and means of dealing with specifics - conventions, trends and sequences, classifications and categories, criteria, methodology
- Knowledge of the universals and abstractions in a field - principles and generalizations, theories and structures

Questions like: What are the health benefits of eating apples?

2.2 Understanding

Demonstrate understanding of facts and ideas by organizing, comparing, translating, interpreting, giving descriptions, and stating the main ideas

- Translation
- Interpretation
- Extrapolation

Questions like: Compare the health benefits of eating apples vs. oranges.

2.3 Applying

Using acquired knowledge. Solve problems in new situations by applying acquired knowledge, facts, techniques and rules.

Questions like: Would apples prevent scurvy, a disease caused by a deficiency in vitamin C?

2.4 Analyzing

Examine and break information into parts by identifying motives or causes. Make inferences and find evidence to support generalizations.

- Analysis of elements
- Analysis of relationships
- Analysis of organizational principles

Questions like: List four ways of serving foods made with apples and explain which ones have the highest health benefits. Provide references to support your statements.

2.5 Evaluating

Present and defend opinions by making judgments about information, validity of ideas or quality of work based on a set of criteria

- Judgments in terms of internal evidence
- Judgments in terms of external criteria

Questions like: Which kinds of apples are best for baking a pie, and why?

2.6 Creating (synthesizing)

Builds a structure or pattern from diverse elements; it also refers the act of putting parts together to form a whole (Onari, 2006). Compile information together in a different way by combining elements in a new pattern or proposing alternative solutions

- Production of a unique communication
- Production of a plan, or proposed set of operations
- Derivation of a set of abstract relations

Questions like: Convert an "unhealthy" recipe for apple pie to a "healthy" recipe by replacing your choice of ingredients. Explain the health benefits of using the ingredients you chose vs. the original ones.

3 The Affective domain (emotive-based)

Skills in the affective domain describe the way people react emotionally and their ability to feel other living things' pain or joy. Affective objectives typically target the awareness and growth in attitudes, emotion, and feelings.

There are five levels in the affective domain moving through the lowest order processes to the highest:

3.1 Receiving

The lowest level, the student passively pays attention. Without this level no learning can occur. Receiving is about the student's memory and motivation as well.

3.2 Responding

The student actively participates in the learning process, not only attends to a stimulus, the student also reacts in some way.

3.3 Valuing

The student attaches a value to an object, phenomenon, or piece of information. The student associates a value or some values to the knowledge they acquired.

3.4 Organizing

The student can put together different values, information, and ideas and accommodate them within his/her own schema; comparing, relating and elaborating on what has been learned.

3.5 Characterizing

The student at this level tries to build abstract knowledge.

4 The Psychomotor domain (action-based)

Skills in the psychomotor domain describe the ability to physically manipulate a tool or instrument like a hand or a hammer. Psychomotor objectives usually focus on change and/or development in behavior and/or skills.

Bloom and his colleagues never created subcategories for skills in the psychomotor domain, but since then other educators have created their own psychomotor taxonomies.^[5] Simpson (1972) proposed the following levels:

4.1 Perception

The ability to use sensory cues to guide motor activity. This ranges from sensory stimulation, through our selection, to translation. Examples: Detects non-verbal communication cues. Estimate where a ball will land after it is thrown and then moving to the correct location to catch the ball. Adjusts heat of stove to correct temperature by smell and taste of food. Adjusts the height of the forks on a forklift by comparing where the forks are in relation to the pallet. Key Words: chooses, describes, detects, differentiates, distinguishes, identifies, isolates, relates, selects.

4.2 Set

Readiness to act. It includes mental, physical, and emotional sets. These three sets are dispositions that predetermine a person's response to different situations (sometimes called mindsets). Examples: Knows and acts upon a sequence of steps in a manufacturing process. Recognize one's abilities and limitations. Shows desire to learn a new process (motivation). NOTE: This subdivision of Psychomotor is closely related with the "Responding to phenomena" subdivision of the Affective domain. Key Words: begins, displays, explains, moves, proceeds, reacts, shows, states, volunteers.

4.3 Guided response

The early stages in learning a complex skill that includes imitation and trial and error. Adequacy of performance is achieved by practicing. Examples: Performs a mathematical equation as demonstrated. Follows instructions to build a model. Responds to hand-signals of instructor while learning to operate a forklift. Key Words: copies, traces, follows, react, reproduce, responds.

4.4 Mechanism

This is the intermediate stage in learning a complex skill. Learned responses have become habitual and the movements can be performed with some confidence and proficiency. Examples: Use a personal computer. Repair a leaking tap. Drive a car. Key Words: assembles, calibrates, constructs, dismantles, displays, fastens, fixes, grinds, heats, manipulates, measures, mends, mixes, organizes, sketches.

4.5 Complex overt response

The skillful performance of motor acts that involve complex movement patterns. Proficiency is indicated by a quick, accurate, and highly coordinated performance, requiring a minimum of energy. This category includes performing without hesitation, and automatic performance. For example, players will often utter sounds of satisfaction or expletives as soon as they hit a tennis ball or throw a football, because they can tell by the feel of the act what the result will produce. Examples: Maneuvers a car into a tight parallel parking spot. Operates a computer quickly and accurately. Displays competence while playing the piano. Key Words: assembles, builds, calibrates, constructs, dismantles, displays, fastens, fixes, grinds, heats, manipulates, measures, mends, mixes, organizes, sketches. NOTE: The Key Words are the same as Mechanism, but will have adverbs or adjectives that indicate that the performance is quicker, better, more accurate, etc.

4.6 Adaptation

Skills are well developed and the individual can modify movement patterns to fit special requirements. Examples: Responds effectively to unexpected experiences. Modifies instruction to meet the needs of the learners. Perform a task with a machine that it was not originally intended for that purpose (machine is not damaged and there is no danger in performing the new task). Key Words: adapts, alters, changes, rearranges, reorganizes, revises, varies.

4.7 Origination

Creating new movement patterns to fit a particular situation or specific problem. Learning outcomes emphasize creativity based upon highly developed skills. Examples: Constructs a new set or pattern of movements organized around a novel concept or theory. Develops a new and comprehensive training program. Creates a new gymnastic routine. Key Words: arranges, builds, combines, composes, constructs, creates, designs, initiate, makes, originates.

5 Definition of knowledge

In the appendix to Handbook I, there is a definition of knowledge which serves as the apex for an alternative, summary classification of the educational goals. This is significant as the taxonomy has been called upon significantly in other fields such as knowledge management, potentially out of context.

Knowledge, as defined here, involves the recall of specifics and universals, the recall of methods and processes, or the recall of a pattern, structure, or setting.

— [8]

The taxonomy is set out:

- 1.00 Knowledge
 - 1.10 Knowledge of Specifics
 - 1.11 Knowledge of Terminology
 - 1.12 Knowledge of Specific Facts
 - 1.20 Knowledge of Ways and Means of Dealing with Specifics

- 1.21 Knowledge of Consequences
- 1.22 Knowledge of Trends and Sequences
- 1.23 Knowledge of Classifications and Categories
- 1.24 Knowledge of Criteria
- 1.25 Knowledge of Methodology
- 1.30 Knowledge of The Universals and Abstractions in a Field
- 1.31 Knowledge of Principles and Generalizations
- 1.32 Knowledge of Theories and Structures

6 Criticism of the taxonomy

As Morshead (1965) pointed out on the publication of the second volume, the classification was not a properly constructed taxonomy, as it lacked a systemic rationale of construction.

This was subsequently acknowledged in the discussion of the original taxonomy in its 2000 revision,^[7] and the taxonomy reestablished on more systematic lines. It is generally considered that the role the taxonomy played in systematising a field was more important than any perceived lack of rigour in its construction.

Some critiques of the taxonomy's cognitive domain admit the existence of these six categories, but question the existence of a sequential, hierarchical link.^[9] Often, educators view the taxonomy as a hierarchy and dismiss the lowest levels as unworthy of teaching. The learning of the lower levels enables the building of skills in the higher levels of the taxonomy. This scaffolding process is an application of Vygotskian constructivism.^[10] Also the revised edition of Bloom's taxonomy has moved Synthesis higher in the order than Evaluation. Some consider the three lowest levels as hierarchically ordered, but the three higher levels as parallel.^[7] Others say that it is sometimes better to move to Application before introducing concepts, the idea being to create a learning environment where the real world context comes first and the theory second to promote the student's grasp of the phenomenon, concept or event. This thinking would seem to relate to the method of problem-based learning.

Furthermore, the distinction between the categories can be seen as artificial since any given cognitive task may entail a number of processes. It could even be argued that any attempt to nicely categorize cognitive processes into clean, cut-and-dried classifications undermines the holistic, highly connective and interrelated nature of cognition.^[11] This is a criticism that can be directed at taxonomies of mental processes in general.

7 Implications

Bloom's taxonomy serves as the backbone of many teaching philosophies, in particular those that lean more towards skills rather than content.^[12] These educators would view content as a vessel for teaching skills. The emphasis on higher order thinking inherent in such philosophies is based on the top levels of the taxonomy including analysis, evaluation, synthesis and creation. Bloom's taxonomy can be used as a teaching tool to help balance assessment and evaluative questions in class, assignments and texts to ensure all orders of thinking are exercised in student's learning.

8 Connections across disciplines

The skill development that takes place at these higher orders of thinking interacts well with a developing global focus on multiple literacies and modalities in learning and the emerging field of integrated disciplines.^[12] The ability to interface with and create media would draw upon skills from multiple levels of the taxonomy including analysis, application and creation.^{[13][14]} Bloom's taxonomy (and the revised taxonomy) continues to be a source of inspiration for educational philosophy and for developing new teaching strategies.

Item No.19 Issues with permission of the Chair
Item No.19 About recording of video lectures.
(4)

Resolution Following was brought to the notice:

- No.19(A)
- 1) Innovative approaches in respect of teaching process are required for development of faculty members as well as students.
 - 2) Lectures on various technical / semi technical / research / science related topics need to be recorded.
 - 3) Students can learn any time from their devices laptops or tablets by watching recorded video lectures. Further, they can learn concepts at an individual pace.
 - 4) With the help of recorded video lectures, student can repeat as many time as they need.

In view of above, the issue of recording of video lectures on various topics was put before the meeting.

Thorough discussion was made and it was unanimously resolved as follows:

- 1) Every faculty member should record his/her video lecture(s) of his/her respective subject(s) or any technical / semi-technical research or science related topic(s).
- 2) HODs should ensure that the faculty members of their respective departments record minimum two video lectures of 60 minutes duration per semester per faculty member.
- 3) HODs should ensure that video recording for minimum two subjects be completed per division per semester.
- 4) HODs should ensure about uploading of the recorded videos on the SVERT's Virtual Network (dae.svert.edu/srnet)
