Yoga is an ancient physical, mental and spiritual practice that originated in India. The word 'yoga' derives from Sanskrit and means to join or to unite, symbolizing the union of body and consciousness. Today it is practiced in various forms around the world and continues to grow in popularity.

Recognizing its universal appeal, on 11 December 2014, the United Nations proclaimed 21 June as the International Day of Yoga by resolution 69/131. The International Day of Yoga aims to raise awareness worldwide of the many benefits of practicing yoga.

The draft resolution establishing the International Day of Yoga was proposed by India and endorsed by a record 175 member states. The proposal was first introduced by Prime Minister Narendra Modi in his address during the opening of the 69th session of the General Assembly, in which he said: "Yoga is an invaluable gift from our ancient tradition. Yoga embodies unity of mind and body, thought and action ... a holistic approach [that] is valuable to our health and our well-being. Yoga is not just about exercise; it is a way to discover the sense of oneness with yourself, the world and the nature."

Dates and Timings The day of Holi varies according to the Hindu calendar every year. Celebrated at the end of winter and starting of spring, Holi falls on a full moon day every year mostly in the month of March. In 2018 it will be celebrated on 1st march that is the Choti Holi and 2nd march will be the Dhulandi.

The celebration starts a day before Holi when in evening people light bonfires. According to the Hindu tradition the bonfire must be lit on a particular time and after the sunset on the full moon day. The right muharata varies according to the sunset in different states. Between 6.40 p.m. to 9.08 p.m. is the timing astrologers have predicted for this year in Mumbai while in Delhi the muharat is between 6.16 p.m. to 8.47 p.m.

How is it celebrated?

The carefree festival filled with fun and frolic is celebrated with enthusiasm and loved by all. Well! Holi is a festival that is celebrated in different ways in different parts of the country. Before the lighting of the bonfire a pooja is performed by the women for the prosperity of their family and good health of their children. On the eve of Holika Dahan people gather together beating drums, singing and dancing around the bonfire then they light it. This day marks the end of evil just like the end of Holika, the sister of the demon king Hiranyakashyap who was destroyed in the fire.
